

How Smart? Heatsmart!

On average, most homes in New York devote 75% of their energy to heating and cooling, costing nearly $2500 a year. Sadly, about 30% of that is wasted through inefficiencies.

Your home can beat the statistics!

HeatSmart Warwick is here to help you navigate your eligibility to New York's energy efficiency programs and access campaign discounts. To start, homeowners qualify for a free or reduced cost comprehensive home energy assessment. And, there are program incentives for every income level - from free improvements to rebates and financing. If you are ready to consider converting to highly efficient heat pump system, the combination of campaign discounts and rebates is greater than ever, putting this technology of the future within reach.
